-THE SUTRO PROPERTY-STOCKS. San Francisco, March 5 (Special).-The Klondike excitement continues, despite gloomy reports from those who have started out on the trails. Every steamer that leaves this city is crowded, and most of the passengers appear to be well fitted out. The chief danger, however, lies in the sending out of all kirds of unseaworthy craft with inexperienced pilots to guide the vessels through the inner passage from the Sound to Dyea and Skaguay, one of the most difficult and dangerous pieces of navigation in the world. All kinds of craft have been pressed into service for carrying passengers, the latest being the steam schooner Tillamook. This boat used to carry a dozen passengers to coast points, but she sailed this week for Alaska with quarters for two hundred. The reports direct from Dawson show that much gold is being taken out, and that the lower end of Bonanza Creek, which was regarded as nearly worthless, is yielding well. This came in a private letter from Joaquin Miller, who has a claim there, and may yet come out of the frezen North a rich man. Max Newberry, the only artist who has sent pen drawings from the Klondike, has a claim adjoining Miller's. He left for Dawson this week, carrying a plant for a small sawmill, in which there will probably be more money than in the mines.

The fight against the Coal Trust advanced this week another step, when all the wholesale and retail dealers in the trust were indicted by the United States Grand Jury. The indictment shows that for three years the eight importers who are indicted have actually controlled all the coal for domestic purposes brought to San Francisco. The retail members of the Coal Dealers' Association are accused of having combined to keep coal at a certain price, irrespective of cost or supply. This case will be the first criminal trial on the coast under the law against restraint of interstate commerce.

The application of Adolph Sutro's guardian for authority to sell real estate which will bring $700,000 is the first public revelation of the bad money, as for years he refused to sell any of his hundreds of acres of suburban property, which he owned between the city outskirts and the Cliff House. Now the estate owes over $650,000 borrowed from banks, and there is nothing with which to clear off this huge debt except the sale of real property. This property is appraised at $3,000,000, but if put up at auction would bring little more than the debt, because of the dulness in the real estate market. The application makes it plain that the Sutro heirs do not propose to keep the old millionaire's promise to give his library to the city.

A meeting of large wine producers from Napa. Sonoma, Alameda and several other countles as held here this week, and an organization was perfected. Its object is to prevent the California Wine Makers' Association from sacrificing wine, as it has been doing for several months. By this union these producers hope to control the situation and save small vineyardists from selling wine to the association at less than the cost T. C. Porter, of Honolulu, who committed suicide at Livermore by throwing himself under a train, was well known in Hawaii, where for years he was chief accountant for Claus Spreck-He was given a place as Minister of Finance in the Cabinet in order to placate Spreckels, but was retired when the millionaire demanded $90,000 which he had advanced.

he extraordinary success of the Bostonians in "Robin Hood" is the theatrical sensation of The opera has been given here at every visit by the company, and this time it was put on with some misglvings for a single week between "The Serenaders" and "Rip Van Winkle" By Tuesday there was not seating room for the remainder of the week, and the opera will be continued the greater part of next · week.

Professor Woodworth, of the State University, is engaged in preparing a descriptive and oblog-graphical list of all genera and species of Cali-fornia insects. The State is rich in insects, and the expected work will include more than six thousand species which have been classified in New-Jersey. The latter State has only twenty species of the bee family, while California has thirty-one genera, representing fully one hunis engaged in preparing a descriptive and

Bishop William Taylor, the African mission Bishop William Taylor, the African mission-ary, received this week news of the death of his niece, Dr. Jennie Taylor Gordon, at Malamge, in Angola, of fever: She was a graduate of Dickinson Collège, Pennsylvania, and of the Philadelphia Medical College, and had served four years in Africa. Her courage, medical skill and constant cheerfulness made her a power in

The suicide of Leopold Feldman, this week, has revived stories of the escapades of this black sheep in a rich Jewish family of London. Leopold, who had been east off by his father as incorrigible, came here about three years ago, and gained his first employment in a dancehall conducted by the notorious "Big Bertha." After failure as a variety actor he eked out a wretched existence as a clerk in several stores until he stole jewelry from a friend. For this he served a year in the House of Correction. He posed here at one time as the real Sir Robert Peel, and gained money from friends of that family. Those who helped him found him untrustworthy, so that finally he ended his life to escape want. The suicide of Leopold Feldman, this week

The new Wells, Fargo & Company Express Building, which is now being constructed at the northwest corner of Second and Mission sts., will be an addition to San Francisco business structures. It will be of granite, gray brick and terra cotta, six stories high, and will run through to New Montgomery-st.

The local bond and stock market has been dull this week, doubtless due to the reaction from the excitement of the previous week. Sugar stocks declined in sympathy with the decline in the East, but the Hutchinson plantation was firm, closing at 45% cents. The menace of the opposition gas company had little influence on gas and electric stocks. The first sale of Ne-vada National Bark stock was made at 160, which is $10 above quotations for its old stock.

AMUSEMENTS AT HOT SPRINGS.

THE SPRING SEASON WELL UNDER WAY, AND MANY GUESTS AT THE HOTELS.

Hot Springs, Va., March 5 (Special) .- The spring season at the Virginia Hot Springs has now fairly begun, and it is safe to say that in another week capacity of the hotels will be tested. A grand cakewalk and concert were given in the big diningevening, and was largely attended and heartily en joyed by all of the guests, especially the singing of Moses Boyd, formerly of Cleveland's Minstrels one of the waiters, whose singing of "Old Black Joe" with the chorus of fifty voices was the feat-

The first of the series of golf tournaments to be of Herbert A. C. Beauclerk, of England, superintendent of the clubhouse and links, will be played early in the week. Ther Casino will formally open on Monday night, with the full military band (which remains at Hot Springs during the sum-mer) in attendance. Riding and driving parties have been much in vogue during the week, the first place among them being held by General E.

A date has at last been set for the revival of "The School for Scandal" at Daly's Theatre. The date is March 15, which is Tuesday of next week. This gives one more week to "The Country Girl" and "Lilli-Tse." The series of passion play lectures and "Lill-Tse." The series of passion play lectures will begin on March 14 and will continue for three weeks. The lectures will be given every weekday, at 2 p. m. on Tuesdays and Fridays, and at 11 a. m. on other days. The lecturer is Professor Ernest Lacy, of the Philadelphia High School, and the pictures, which will be shown in motion by the cinematograph, were taken at the passion play which is given in the mountains of Horitz, in Bavaria.

The selection of operetta for production at the American Theatre by the Castle Square Opera Company this week is "Nanon." The cast will in-clude Miss Grace Golden, in the title part; Miss Midred Meade, a new member of the company;
Oscar Getard, George Broderick, Charles J. Campbell, Joseph F. Sheehan, Miss Ruth White, Miss, Hessie Fairbairn, Miss Gertrude Quinian and Hessie Fairbairn, Miss Gertrude Quinian and Richard Ridgley. To follow "Nanon," "Sinbad the Sailor; or, the Maid of Balsora," is promised.

Mrs Crane still has cause for gratification at is continued success in "A Virginia Courtship," at the Knickerbocker Theatre. The present week will be the sixth of the engagement, which will end on April 9. Mr. Crane would be glad to stay longer, but he has other appointments, and so has the

At the Irving Place Theatre to-morrow night Sudermann's "Honer" will be given, followed on Tuesday by Ohnet's "The Ironmaster." On Wednesday evening the Hungarian peasant play. "The Red Wallet," by Franz Csepreghi, the German by Alexander Rosen, will be produced for the first time in this country, with Mme. Julie Kopacsy first time in this country, with Mme. Julie Kopácsy in the principal part. The performance will be given as a testimonial to Mme. Kopácsy. On Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening the same play will serve for her farcwell performances. She sails for Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse on March 15. On Friday evening Schönthan and Kudelburk's "Die Goldne Eva" will be performed. Mme. Agnes Sorma, who is expected to arrive on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse to-morrow, will open her second American engagement on Monday, March 14. In Ilisen's "A Doll's House."

Exactly the same story is to be repeated each week of Miss Maude Adams and "The Little Minister" at the Garrick Theatré. The combined in-fluence of Leut and bad weather did not make any difference in the appearance of the house last week. It was always full.

To-morrow night John Drew begins the fourth week of his engagement at Wallack's Theatre. He is drawing large audiences to see him in "One Sum-mer's Day," Wednesday matinees will continue at Wallack's through Mr. Drew's engagement.

The fourth week of "The Master" will begin tomorrow evening at the Garden Theatre, and no change will be made at this theatre until the end of the season. A matince is given every Wednesday.

The most interesting feature of the bill at Koster & Biai's this week is Chirgwin, "the white-eyed Kaffir," who comes from London to let Americans see his notion of a negro. Others have tried the experiment before, and it has not been, for the most part, a marked success. But Mr. Chirgwin will have an impartial hearing. Charmion con-tinues her trapeze performance. Among the acts that are held over from last week are Delmore and Lee, with their feats on the swinging ladder; De Bessel, the clay modeller; Julie Mackey, contraite; Burke and Andrus, with their bucking mule; the Rogers brothers, in a new specialty, and the Picchiani sisters, acrobats. Imra Orbasany and her troupe of trained cockatoos play a return engagement. Albert A. Guille, the tenor, also reappears. Ritchie, the tramp bleyclist, will make his bow to an American audience after an absence of two years from these shores. He has just finished a nine months' engagement at the Falace Music Hall, London, Langslow, who does rifle shooting while balancing himself on a high slack wire, and the Moung Toom Trio, Hindoo jugglers, round out the bill. that are held over from last week are Delmore again varied and loses nothing in attractiveness. Robert Hilliard will present his sketch "The Littlest Girl." The biograph is retained, and its attractiveness seems to increase. Views of the Span-ish warship Vizcaya, of the Maine and of other subjects will be exhibited this week. Other feat-ures include Letta and Minni, Florence Bindley, Stinson and Merten, the Clover Trie, Johnson and Dean, A. D. Robbins, Von Pritwitz Palm, etc.

At the Empire Theatre it is announced that the run of "The Conquerors" will end about the first of May. The company will then begin a tour, play-ing "Under the Red Robe."

A long bill is announced for the week at Tony Pastor's Theatre, where the audiences will be amused by Frederick Hallen and Miss Mollie Fuller, in George M. Cohan's "My Wife's Hero" Pauline Markham and Miss Kathryn Dana, in "Just Off the Road"; Cushman and Holcomb, in their Klondike romance, "A Business Transaction"; their Klondike romance, "A Business Transaction": Edwin Lateil, Maud Raymond, serio-comic, Charles Osborn, comic singer; Baby, the acting dog, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. M. Quinn; the Folly Trio, Casey and Le Clair, Howard Clifton, vocalist; William W. Bois, in illustrated songs; De Marce Fellx and his miniature vaudeville circus, Le Claire and Hayes, the Belmonts and Tony Pastor.

The memory of the Maine disaster still clings to "The White Heather," a piece entirely English and Scotch in its subject, at the Academy of Music. The scene of the descent of the divers in evitably suggests the harbor of Havana to all who see it, while some lines about the Maine have been introduced in Miss Rose Coghlan's part, utterly improbable, but provocative of applause.

The managers of Keith's Union Square Theatre announced the return to that house this week of Alice Atherton. Her engagement is for one week only. Lillian Burkhart presents a new sketch en-titled "A Passing Fancy." Lillian Western will also be on the bill. The illustrated songs introalso be on the bill. The illustrated songs intro-duced by Maxwell and Simpson, will be found as attractive as ever. The programme will introduce Dixon. Bowers and Dixon; George Evans. in original songs and stories; Mark Murphy, the Blon-dells. Wormwood's Dog and Monkey Circus. Ben-netto, Signer Quinto, the Folly Trio, Conwell and Swan, the Patterson Brothers, Waltz and Ardeli, and Signor Operti.

More weeks are ahead for "The Telephone Girl" one last week and another is promised for March 23. at the Casino. Souvenirs come in fast. There was

The attractions at the Eden Musée are the same as last week. The views of the cinematograph are the most important, including the passion play pletures, and the waxworks and the concerts hold their own with the andiences.

"What Happened to Jones" will remain for two weeks more at the Bijou Theatre. The evening of Monday, March 14, is designated as "patriotic might," the 125th performance of "What Happened to Jones" in New-York decurring then—a truly patriotic occasion. Souvenirs will be distributed, consisting of cushions made of flags, with likenesses of the Maine embrodered on them.

"A Normandy Wedding" is continued at the Herald Square Theatre, the cast remeining the same as at first. The opening of Mr. Rice's new burlesque, "Monte Carlo," is now set down at this theatre for March 21.

Miss Rose Coghlan will appear on Sunday eventhe entertainment to be given by Jerome H. Eddy, and will recite "Sheridan's Ride" to the accompaniment of the orchestra.

William H. Crane will present A. E. Lancaster's one-act play, "His Last Appearance," for the first time at the Waldorf-Astoria on the afternoon of March 18 at a dramatic entertainment in aid of the New-York Orthopædic Dispensary and Hospital. Miss Haswell, Miss Lester, Miss Bronson and Mr. Hale have consented to assist Mr. Crane in the performance of the play;

A NEW WORKHOUSE WARDEN APPOINTED.

Commissioner Lantry of the Department of Corrections appointed John Fox warden of the work-house on Blackwell's Island yesterday, at a salary At the musical matinee to be given in the Broadsecond-st. He was for twelve years warden of the pententiary on the island, resigning in 1886. There is no limit to the term of the workhouse warden.
Fox succeeds John M. Van De Carr., who resigned

ACADEMY OF SCIENCE'S RECEPTION.

The fifth annual reception and exhibition of the New-York Academy of Science will be given at the American Museum of Natural History on April 13 and 14. The first evening will be devoted to a reception to the members of the Academy and their personal friends. On the afternoon of the second day the exhibition will be open to students and others, and in the evening to interested friends and affiliated societies in this city. Professor George E. Hale, of the Yerkes Observatory, will give the annual lecture before the Academy on that evening. The committee having the exhibition in charge are Messrs. Henry F. Osborn, Charles F. Cox, Reginald Gordon, Gary N. Calkins and Richard E. Dodge, chairman.

The following departments will be represented in the exhibit, in the charge of the men whose names are given: Anatomy, George S. Huntingdon and Joseph A. Blake; astronomy, J. K. Rees, H. Jacoby and H. S. Davis; botany, George V. Nash; Jacoby and H. S. Davis; botany, George V. Nash; chemistry. Charles A. Doremus; electricity, George F. "Couldn't do without it."

"But didn't you feel the awful pangs of remorse? Didn't you have the horrible fear that you had failed to realize the danger into which you had drifted, until it was too late?

"No. My only regret was that I hadn't begun sooner. I had been ill for some time and had to have an attendant sleep in the room with me. He was a student of medicine, and had with him the proper instruments for administering the drug hypodermically. He explained their use to me and then laid them on the mantelpiece. That night I awakened to hear the attendant talk in his sleep and then begin to snore. I was rather nervous and the long, vibrating noise with which he modulated from key to key kept me interested but not entertained. My annoyance became so great that I could not remain in bed. I felt that I would do anything for the sake of more sleep; that I would run all risks in order to enjoy repose or even lethargy. Then I thought of morphine. The tempration was more than I could resist. I went stealthly across the moonlit room, and in a moment I had clutched the morocco-covered case. I measured out a dose, and a few seconds later it was carrying its burden of sweet somnolence through the system. In a few minutes I lost consciousness."

"Weren't you sorry for what you had done?"

"Weren't you sorry for what you had done?"
"A little. But no one knew the difference."
"But they would have found it out if you had kept on taking it."
"I didn't take it."
"But you said it cured your sleeplessness."
"It did. I gave it to the attendant."

LAKEWOOD'S QUIET LENT. Hamilton, Mrs. Hunter, Miss Quadlander and

THE PRESSURE OF GUESTS IN THE HOTELS CONSTANTLY INCREASING.

PLANS FOR IMPROVING THE GOLF SITUATION-PROMINENT PEOPLE AT THE HOTELS.

Lakewood, N. J., March 5.-The first week the Lenten season in Lakewood has been quietly observed by the thousands of visitors who make up the various circles of the resort's society It cannot be said that there is no dancing, for the ballrooms of the large hotels invite the young people to the dance each evening; but these are formal affairs, and in the main the items of entertainment are confined to private house parties Weish rabblt gatherings, dinners and teas, while public entertainments follow the line of concerts. readings, lectures, picture exhibitions and the meetings of the several societies of the town.

In point of numbers, the pressure upon hotels and boarding-houses grows more exacting than at the opening of the Lenten season. The life of the hotel room clerk is by no means a happy one, for th 'parting guests" appear to be less numerous than the would-be "coming" ones. At all the hotels there is a big waiting list of applicants, and, while there are about the same number of visitors in town as in other years, the number of applications which cannot be filled is larger and steadler than ever before. Nothing could more positively show Lakewood's growth in popularity. All Saints' Memorial Church, which duly entered upon its special Lenten programme of services, will until Holy Week, offer these weekday services Daily morning prayer at 10 a. m.; daily evening prayer at 4:30 p. m.; third service for Wednesdays at 8 p. m.; lectures on Wednesdays and Fridays. Special music for Easter, which will be sung by a double quartet, is now in preparation.

The Church of St. Mary of the Lake also has special Lenten services at 8:15 o'clock on Tuesday nd Friday evenings.

ng of spring could hardly be improved on. The air is soft and mild, and all outdoor conditions encourage exercise in the open, and, whether on the golf links, among the pines or in the vicinity of the lakes, whether walking, driving, riding or awheel, populace is generally out of doors and making the most of pleasant conditions.

Golf continues to be the ruling attraction, or, at least, the ruling pastime, and present indications point to an enlargement of the present facilities for the golfers' enjoyment. There has been for some weeks a well-defined promise that something was to happen which would work for the betterment of sporting conditions here, but just what methods will be followed in bringing about such betterment is not yet known. That the whole matter is to be soon settled is apparent from the announcement that the Ocean County Hunt and Country Club, at a special meeting held on Monday evening, voted to add to and west of its present holdings, increase its present links to eighteen holes, and perfect a sporting club plant which cannot be duplicated in this section of the country. The new land purchase includes, in round figures, about one hundred acres, and work is to begin at once, a plan being followed which will not interfere with the almost daily use of the links for the remainder of the present season. The club has cancelled the dates on which was to have held its three days' open tournament-March 24, 25 and 26. So far as this club is concerned, there is evidently a settled policy which means great improvement, with ample means at hand to carry out its views. Matters affecting the Golf Club of Lakewood are less definite, but there is daily expectation of their settlement upon similar lines. It has been announced that at a special meeting of the club held in February it was voted to conclude the contemplated lease of Dairy Farm for the new home of the club. Since that time it has been stated by an officer of the club that the vote of the club simply left the matter in the hands of a committee with power to act. Whatever the vote was, the lease has not yet been signed. Another special meeting is to be held on Tuesday evening, when the leaze will probably be signed, in which case the club will move to its new grounds on July 1. There are reports that the consolidation of the two clubs would be to the best interests of sport here, and the recent move by the Ocean County club lends color to the argument in favor of such consolidation. The extension of the Ocean County links gives the club ample facilities to accommodate great numbers, and its clubhouse provisions are al-ready superior. But the idea of consolidation is not seriously entertained by others, who favor the removal to new grounds and the construction of new

The Republican primary was held on Thursday afternoon, at which official nominations were made and appropriations for the coming year considered, There was a large attendance of voters.

John Bard Rogers and his family, of New-York, are in the Underhill cottage, in Third-st., for the rest of the season. Mrs. A. B. Crouse and her family, of New-York, have rented the Stotherd cottage, in Sixth-st., for the remainder of the season. The Lakewood Hotel's elaborate system of medicated baths is securing commendation from many who patronize them and who report beneficial results from them. Those who have tried similar baths in foreign lands consider these fully equal in beneficial results to those across the ocean.

Miss Harriette Cady, of New-York, has announced piano recital in the music-room of the Laurel-in-the Pines for next Tuesday evening. Patronesses for the recital are Mrs. George J. Gould, Mrs. Kingdon, Mrs. Albert M. Bradshaw, Mrs. James Con-verse, Mrs. Arthur B. Freeman, with their two daughters, of Bellhaven, Conn., are to spend the month of March at Mr. Freeman's beautiful home, Edgemere. Miss Clara Dorflinger, of Englewood, N. J., is the guest of the Misses King at their Madison-ave.

Professor Elmer E. Wentworth delivered the eighth in his series of morning lectures at the Madison-ave, home of Mrs. William B. Leeds on Monday, his subject being Browning's "Pippa Passes," of which poem Mr. Wentworth read a large portion. His next lecture will have as its subject "Mrs. Browning's Life and Poems." The postponed exhibition of Miss Rhoda Wilkinson's water-color drawings was made at the Laurel-in-the-Pines on Tuesday and Wednesday. About thirty studies were on view, among them jects and local scenes. Guests of the Palmer House enjoyed a pleasant concert in the music-room of that popular house on Monday evening. The programme included both ocal and instrumental music, which was well selected and pleasurably rendered. Those participating in the music were Mrs. J. T. Brennan, Mrs. Edward B. Cornellus, of New-York, and John S. Hancock, of Philadelphia, vocalists; Mr. Krause, violinist, and Mr. Salvadore, accompanist, Robbins Walker, on Echo, and Miss Mitchell, on Willow Brook.

The Lenten Sewing Class held its first meeting this year at Edgemere, the home of Francis P. Freeman, on Tucsday afternoon. The methods followed by this class, which includes within its working membership the leading women of the place, have been successful in past years, and promise equally important results this year. Its object is to provide garments for summer distribution among the fresh-air homes of the city, these garments being cut and prepared by a committee previous to the meeting of the class, to be completed at the meeting or taken home if desired. This week thirty women were present for work. The president of the class is Mrs. Edward L. Harding, and meetings will be held on Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. during Lent, the help of all who may be interested in the work being solicited. Those present on Tuesday were Mrs. Edward L. Harding, Mrs. Francis M. Freeman, Mrs. Albert M. Bradshaw, Mrs. Henry S. Simons, Mrs. William B. Leeds, Mrs. M. V. Willis, Mrs. David L. Schwartz, Miss Aller, Mrs. David B. Piumer, Mrs. Thomas C. ## The preparations for the fête et bal champetre which will be given in aid of the Montefiere Home poon and evening of March 19, under the auspices of the Young Ladies and Gentlemen's League, are of the Young Ladies and Gentlemen's League, are nearing completion. Plans for elaborate decorations have been approved, and the interior of the hall will be transformed into a veritable rosa bower. A large promenade will be built around the dancing floor, and on it will be placed huts representing different countries in Europe. These huts will be presided over by well-known singers and actresses, who will be dressed in keeping with the hut which they preside over. The cocoa plantation, which will be a feature of the decoration, will be presided over by a large number of singers from the Metropolitan Opera House. Several attractive features have been secured, so that the floor will resemble a county fete. There will be a display of costume that will overshadow everything of the kind that has heretofore been attempted in this country. Some of the prettiest ones nents to amuse them.

Nearly all of the boxes have been sold, and the adications are that the fete will be a successful
